

Council limits days for vacation leave

by Don Ham

Despite objections from the Upland City Employees Association and the Upland Police Officer's Association, the city council Monday night voted 3-1 to amend the city's merit rules to limit the number of vacation days for city employees. Councilwoman Ina Petakas was in the minority. John McCarthy abstained.

The amendment places an annual maximum vacation day accrual time of 22 working days for Upland police officers, 20 days for miscellaneous employees, 22 days for Upland firemen who work 40-hour weeks and 10 shifts, with a shift equaling a little more than two days, for fire department field personnel.

The city took the action, according to Acting City Manager Lee Travers, to prevent people who have worked for the city for a long time generally in responsible, managerial positions, from taking up to one and one half months of vacation a year.

Ed Founce, an attorney representing the Upland Police Officer's Association, objected to the decision on the grounds that no agreement had been reached between the association and the city to eliminate vacation benefits offered employees. According to Founce, citing a recent State Supreme Court decision, the courts have held that the city's merit system rules can be changed if the employees agree to the change, which they had not done, or if the city council hands down a ruling which would affect only employees hired after the decision.

Larger vacations have been an "entitlement" benefit which have attracted people to work for the city, he said, and unilateral, involuntary reductions in employee benefits cannot be made.

"Your policy regarding vacations is already written," he indicated to the council. "You must follow this policy if not superseded by an employee-city agreement."

"If the city council wants to change the rules, it must sit down at the bargaining table," he said. "Our position is that vacation time cannot be taken away from them."

Upland City Councilman Hal Bailin, the most vociferous councilman speaking for the measure, said that the amendment was not taking away vacation time.

Employees who have worked for the city for more than 20 years, according to Travers, are not affected by the vacation limit.

Bailin feels the salary range in the Upland Police Department was "excellent," that the city's educational incentive program, designed to benefit both the policeman and the city, was "excellent," and that the city's fringe benefit package (sick leave, vacation, etc.) was better than most private industries and better than most cities.

"It's fair and puts a cap on something that should have been put on a long time ago," he said, an "unlimited vacation" for city employees.

Bailin said that 22 working days a year, or one month of vacation, was enough for employees.

Upland City Attorney Donald Maroney, in response to a statement by Founce that if the city adopted the amendment legal action could be sought against the city, said he didn't know whether the case could be successful or not.

"I never thought that a vacation was a vested right," Maroney said. "I would think that we should look at the case. . . I would not think of it as a vested right. . . It may be, however, the thinking of some court that vacation is a vested right or the inducement of a vested right."

In addition to the maximum placed on vacation, miscellaneous employees, under the amendment, will accrue vacation time of 10 days for one to two years employment with the city, 12 days for three to five years, 16 days for six to 16 years and one additional day per year served afterwards until the 20-day maximum is reached.

The vacation schedule for police employees, 15 days for 1-12 years and one vacation day for each year after, remains the same.

Kiwanis swimming event set

Two hundred young novice swimmers are expected to show up Saturday morning at the Upland High School pool to compete in the 16th Annual Upland Kiwanis Club Invitational Swim Meet.

Swimmers from Upland, Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Ontario, Montclair, Claremont and Pomona, ranging in age from five to 17, will compete in 58 events.

All six age groups, including under six, 7-8, 9-10, 11-12, 13-14 and 15-17, will compete in the four basic strokes, butterfly, backstroke, breaststroke and freestyle, in distances beginning at 25 yards for the youngest and increasing with age.

In addition, all groups but the under-six group will compete in individual medleys, which involves the use of all four strokes in the same event.

Kiwanis Club members will serve as timers, announcers, judges and other officials during the meet.

According to meet chairman Clarence Scholl, a Kiwanian, the meet is expected to be highly competitive and requires dedication on the part of the novice swimmers.

"In order to even get near realistic times, they have to swim from two to three hours a night," he said. Many who will compete are members of summer swim teams.

The meet was open to anyone who wished to compete, according to Scholl, but the deadline for entries was the middle of July.

The meet, to begin with warm ups at 8 a.m., will last from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Mayor names new planners

Upland Mayor Abner Haldeman has appointed pharmacist Leo Leall Jr. and reappointed Commissioners Albert Canestro and John Meyer to the Upland Planning Commission.

Leall will fill the unexpired term of Planning Commission Chairman Bruce Grube, who submitted his resignation to the mayor Monday morning. Grube is moving to Hesperia Valley.

Canestro, planning commission vice chairman, and Meyer were appointed to four year terms beginning July 1. Due to a delay in the reappointments, the commission was without their services for one month.

Leall is active in local city politics and a member of the Upland Kiwanis Club, but has no experience in planning and has never run for an elected office. He has been a resident of Upland for seven years.

Asked how he got the job, he said, "The mayor called me and asked if I would be interested in it and naturally I said yes."

Leall accepted the position because he wanted to become more active in the city and to "have more to say about what's going on."

"The job will be challenging and interesting," he said. "I want to do a good job for the city of Upland."

"The most visible goal to me at this time would be to have a controlled growth pattern in Upland. . . I want to see the quality of living maintained in the City."

Leall, 33, and his wife, Beverly, have two children, Timothy James, 6, and Charles Andrew, 3.

By reappointing Canestro and Meyer, Mayor Haldeman maintained what he called a "continuity of experience" in the planning commission.

"There's a lot of challenges today and of course you need a continuity of experience. You have to have continuity and you have to have experience," he said in a recent interview.

The mayor said the city will miss Grube. "He has been a very conscientious chairman and he does know parliamentary procedure. . . he'll be missed because of his experience."

Commissioner Canestro, who has served as commission vice chairman since 1972, was first appointed to the commission in 1967 to fill an unexpired term. He was reappointed in 1970.

Commissioner Meyer, owner of "Modern Decorators" in Upland, was first appointed to the commission in 1970. He served on the architectural commission from 1969 to 1970.

A salad luncheon, provided by members, will precede the olympics.

Women between the ages of 18 and 35 who would like to compete in the olympics or join philanthropic service club can call 985-5747 or 985-8932 prior to Aug. 22.

Mexican exchange students visit city

By Don Ham

Thirteen year old Jesse Luis Gutierrez and his brother, Ramon Palma Gutierrez, 9, exchange students from H. Caborca, Sonora, Mexico, Upland's sister city, spent five weeks in Upland this summer.

They lived in two local households, the home of Mrs. Gloria Schwing and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Larned and their four children, and also attended summer school classes at Upland Elementary School and Upland Junior High School.

Though neither student spoke English, according to Mrs. Larned, their temporary mother, communication was relatively easy through the use of a Spanish language book and "sign language."

Luis, through a translation made by

Upland High School freshman Juanita Leon, said that not knowing the English language wasn't that big of a problem, although he did have trouble understanding his instructors at school.

Luis and Ramon said they liked summer school and all the friends they made while in Upland and want to come back.

"There are two things I noticed they really love to do, roller skate and swim," Mrs. Larned said.

Luis said he had never roller skated before coming to Upland and had only been swimming a few times, usually in lakes. Here, he noted, they have swimming pools everywhere he goes. Over there, they don't.

Luis and Ramon said they enjoyed Upland schools more because they have recesses during the day. In Caborca, they have just the lunch break.

According to Mrs. Larned, having the Mexican children in her home was a good influence on her own children.

After each meal, both children clean up their dishes and wipe their area of the table clean. They're both "polite, generous and cheerful," she said. "They always make up their bed the minute they get out of it."

She said she had a great deal of respect in their parents for a good upbringing.

Mrs. Larned, who plans to take Spanish lessons along with several of her children, said their reason for taking lessons was probably the family's recent trip to Caborca.

In Caborca, they met Luis Sanchez Gutierrez, the children's father and a friend of Ed Larned, his wife Rosario Palma Gutierrez, and their four other children, including Rosa Maria, 15, Lorena, 4, Rojelio, 10, and Aaron, 6.

Gutierrez, an electrician and volunteer fireman, met Ed Larned, also a fireman, through the fire department.

There is no smog in Caborca, according to Mrs. Larned, where the temperature reaches as high as 135 degrees.

She said the streets in Caborca were "exceptionally clean," that all the people "go out of their way to be nice to you" and that the residents "keep their word."

Although the school is not air conditioned, she said, it is very modern. The city has a "beautiful" city hall and jail. "It's a nice town, real nice."

The town has sidewalks and paved streets only in the downtown area. Many of the homes don't have glass in the windows or doors, she said. "Some areas are really poverty stricken."

"We really like Caborca, and we want to go back soon," Mrs. Larned said. When a group of Upland Junior High School students visited the city in May, they were received by the mayor and treated to lunch by a local restaurant.

"We have really enjoyed having these kids here, I'm going to be sorry to see them go," Mrs. Larned said. "I wish everyone could have the same experience of having exchange students in their home."

The important part of the program, she said, was to exchange the different cultures.

"I just think it's really interesting. Even though we haven't spoken Spanish, we've learned a lot with these boys."

She said the Larned family will probably visit the Gutierrez family in the fall or winter.

Luis and Ramon, who were getting a little home sick during their last two weeks, left for Caborca Sunday afternoon.

Council cuts back St. plans

By unanimously approving a revised landscaping plan for Mountain Ave. north of 16th St. to the city limits, which features landscaping only for the center divider, the Upland City Council Monday night saved the city up to $30,000 a year in maintenance costs.

Under the new plan, according to Upland City Engineer Fred Blanchard, it will cost the city approximately $5,000 a year for maintenance of the two-mile long project.

Maintenance for the original plan, which would have featured landscaped, 14-foot right of ways with sidewalks along each side of the street in addition to the 16-foot wide center "landscape barrier," was estimated to be $35,000 a year.

Under the revised plan, from seven to 12 feet of sidewalk, possibly made of "stamped" concrete constructed to resemble brick, cobblestone or another special surface, will extend from the curb to a six foot high wall, which will be constructed in an angular pattern with elevation steps to compensate for the grade along Mountain Ave.

The plan requires landscaping on the property side of the wall in areas which would vary from three and one half feet to eight and one half feet because of the staggered shape of the wall.

Trees and shrubs, to act as a screen between traffic and homes on Mountain Ave., will be planted by future home developers and maintained by home owners.

Mountain Ave. will have two, 32 foot wide drives for northbound and southbound traffic for a total curb-to-curb width of 80 feet. It will require six feet of additional right of way dedication along each side of the street for a total right of way width of 112 feet. This is eight feet less on each side than was recommended in the original plan.

Transit service approved

The Upland City Council voted 5-0 Monday night to approve a draft authorizing the formation of the West Valley Transit Service Authority, formed to help solve West End transportation problems.

If ratified by other West End cities, the authority would have the power to make recommendations for the allocation of funds to solve transportation problems for the cities of Upland, Montclair, Chino, Ontario, Claremont and Pomona and the San Bernardino County second and fourth supervisorial districts.

The purpose of the authority, according to the agreement, will be limited to the study, exploration and implementation of public transit alternatives and the determination of recommended West End choices.

Why buy a cow when milk is so cheap?

If you're buying one of those package plans at another bank, you're paying $2 to $3 every month... automatically... for many services you seldom if ever use. Package plan charges add up fast... $24 to $36 per year, depending on where you bank.

There's a better way.

At Foothill National Bank you get personal checking free when you maintain a minimum $100 balance.

There's never a service charge unless you fall below the minimum. Even then, it costs only a dollar that month and you still may write as many checks as you wish. Look at it this way.

Think of your $100 minimum as savings.

Think of the money you don't pay in bank services at Foothill National Bank as "interest" that you pocket on the "savings". The $2 or $3 per month you save is comparable to 24% or 36% annual interest on $100. Where can you get interest like that? So you see, we don't sell you the cow.

Police give tickets instead of warnings

Cyclists pedaling toward trouble

Bicyclists who believe local police will look the other way as they pedal through a stop sign may soon be in court.

The proliferation of cyclists and the number of them involved in traffic accidents has prompted local police to begin writing up more reckless bikers.

The Ontario Police Department has issued 43 citations to careless bicyclists since the first of the year, mostly for running stop signs and traffic lights, riding on the wrong side of the road and failing to yield the right of way.

"We used to just warn people," said R. Noville, a community relations officer with the Ontario Police Department. "Now we're ticketing them."

There were 73 auto-bicycle accidents in 1973. "Of those 73 accidents," said Officer Noville, "we estimate that nine out of ten were caused by the cyclist rather than the driver of the car."

Presently, the Ontario police are working up a bicycle safety program to present to elementary school-children.

The Montclair Police Department has had a bicycle safety program going since 1960 and the number of traffic accidents involving bikes last year was less than ten in

County will buy passenger buses

Members of the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors have personally inspected a Mercedes-Benz bus identical to the 20 ordered for purchase early in July.

The buses are 16 to 21 passenger diesel models purchased by the county at $23,150 each for assignment to the newly created San Bernardino Transit Service (SBTS).

Delivery of the buses is scheduled in November with the routes, schedules, and other details to be worked out during the interim period.

A proposal is currently under consideration to establish the SBTS as a county-wide transit agency incorporating other currently operational bus systems.

While government agencies are focusing increased attention on the dilemma of unwanted noise, the problem is hardly new. Noise banning ordinances prohibiting metal work and the penning of roosters within city limits date back 2,500 years to the ancient Greek community of Sybaris.

County bus operations are included in the recently formed department of transportation which also includes responsibility for county roads and airports.

County officials said the move to accommodate the previously separate functions is parallel with reorganizations at the State and Federal level and will provide a central operation for all phases of a modern, multi-model transportation network.

It was pointed out that it is no longer practical to approach roads, airports, and public transportation systems as individual entities since a common trip often involves two or more means of travel.

The new buses will be purchased at a total cost of $462,107 to be financed with the county's share of funds received under Senate Bill 325, the state sales tax on gasoline.

Reoccupation of 1,000 homes sought

VAC fights abandoned houses

The Valley Association of Cities plans to succeed where the federal government has failed.

Within the next 16 months, the VAC aims to put back on the housing market 1,000 abandoned homes, many owned by the federal government, in the Pomona Valley.

For the next three weeks, the VAC will be pinpointing abandoned homes in the West End. Their location and condition will be reported to the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The tract for "area management broker" is let in three to five months.

Bell said HUD is changing the conditions of the brokers' contract so that the brokers are no longer "half salesman and half manager." They'll be managers only.

Joe Korpsak, the executive officer of the VAC, said the association is considering submitting a bid for the HUD management in the West End.

As manager for the HUD homes in the West End, Korpsak said, the VAC would see to it that the houses are rehabilitated and sold.

Korpsak said the Valley Association of Cities will also try to aid HUD in screening buyers of HUD homes.

One of the major reasons for the high default rate by owners of the low-income HUD homes is that lending institutions and HUD itself have approved some homebuyers whose credit rating did not come up to HUD standards.

"We'd like to change HUD so that it gives more consideration to people who would allow themselves to be counseled, who could put up a higher down payment and who could show more financial stability," said Korpsak.

At the same time, Korpsak said, low income families "will not be screened out."

"The purpose of HUD housing is for lower income families," Korpsak said. "Constitutionally, we couldn't screen out low income families."

The VAC has already some success in putting families into abandoned homes in smaller communities in the Pomona Valley. Korpsak stated that abandoned houses have been reduced by 23 per cent in San Dimas, Claremont and Walnut. Reductions have also taken place in the West End, although exact figures are not yet available, he said.

We haven't made a whole lot of progress in Pomona," Korpsak admitted, however.

Pomona's situation will be the toughest nut for the VAC to crack, since it has blocks of abandoned homes.

The VAC's funding is firm through fiscal year 1974-75 and the VAC is applying for federal funds beyond that.

If the VAC is able to gain control of the abandoned housing problem, it could expand into other regional concerns.

Charles Bader, the VAC chairman, said the association could become involved in air pollution control, rapid transit and improving the area's unemployment picture.

VAC will then keep the pressure on HUD to rehabilitate the houses and get them back on the housing market.

"We've caused HUD to realize the abandoned housing problem exists and gotten them to do something about it," said Charles Bader, a Pomona city councilman who is chairman of the Valley Association of Cities.

The VAC is an association of nine Pomona Valley cities and the city of West Covina, all plagued with abandoned HUD-owned homes, some with blocks of them.

The cities banded together earlier this year, mainly to muster enough political pressure to change some of HUD's policies. Since then, however, the VAC has taken it upon itself to do what HUD has not been able to accomplish.

Within the next two weeks, the VAC will be hiring two "housing assistants" for its "early warning system," which identifies abandoned houses. Several counselors will also be hired and will work with homeowners facing foreclosure and attempt to keep them in their homes. The VAC employees will be paid out of a HUD grant.

The VAC may also be the first association of its kind to act as a broker for abandoned HUD homes.

Booth Bros. Realtors in Montclair has been a clearing house for abandoned homes in the West End since October of 1972 but will give up its brokership at the end of this month. Acting as a broker for the HUD houses has not been profitable for Booth Bros., according to Dave Kimmich, the realtor's employee managing the brokership.

At least in the West End, Kimmich said, there is no problem selling the houses. But administering the one-year warranty that goes with the houses when they are sold eats up any profits the Realtor might have made, he said.

David Bell, HUD administrator for San Bernardino County, said another local Realtor will replace Booth Bros. as an interim broker for HUD houses.

News of local church happenings

Dr. Vincent Bennett to speak Sunday morn

Dr. Vincent Bennett, minister of coordinated Bible studies for the Valley Community Drive-In Church, Lone Hill Ave. & Covina Blvd., San Dimas, will speak on the topic "Seeing The Invisible" at the 10 a.m. walk-in, drive-in worship service this Sunday, Aug. 11 at the local church. Bennett held the position of professor of religion at Azusa Pacific College in the late 1960's, when his classes were reportedly among the most popular on the campus.

The Rev. Bill O'Connor, minister of education and youth, will bring the message "Verbs That Lead To Victory" at the 8:30 a.m. early service which is for the drive-in area only.

At 8:15 p.m. in the drive-in only, the "Sunday Evening Under The Stars" film will be

"Don't Call Me, God, I'll Call You," which depicts the life of a campus phony who was too busy to do things God's way. An intensely contemporary film which speaks clearly to today's youth in the church and to their parents who may be pushing their children contrary to the will of God. Admission is free, a free-will offering will be received. The public is invited to attend.

Minister returns Sunday

The 8 a.m. service of Holy Communion will resume this Sunday with the return of the Rev. Richard Avery, who has been on a European vacation.

The family service at 9:30 a.m. will feature a sermon by the vicar and Sunday School for the children. The children's program will include a filmstrip called "Silly Excuses." The teachers this Sunday will be Denise Doucette and Teresa Hussey.

PLC is a fully accredited, liberal arts institution and offers 23 Bachelor of Arts majors, a Bachelor of Science in Nursing, and Master of Arts degrees in both education and religion. It is one of ten institutions of higher education owned and operated by the Church of the Nazarene in the United States. In its 72-year history, nearly 20,000 students have been in attendance. Admission is specifically designed for young people with a serious life purpose who desire a quality education in an academic environment where Christian values are held paramount. The public is cordially invited to the sacred concert.

Religious singers to perform in Walnut

"Second Chapter of Acts" with Barry McGuire will appear in concert at Christian Chapel, 1920 South Brea Canyon Cutoff Rd. in Walnut, Saturday, August 17 at 7 p.m.

The popular singing group has always enjoyed singing together, ever since they were children growing up in a large family of nine brothers and sisters. When their parents died, Annie, Nellie and Matthew Ward went to live with their married sister, Annie Herring, and the months that followed gave birth to the singing group, "Second Chapter of Acts," known throughout the United States.

On Matt's 13th birthday, they recorded their first single, "Jesus Is." This recording was brought to the attention of Pat Boone who immediately signed the group with M.G.M. Their second single "I'm So Happy" received wide-spread air play throughout Central and Southern California, as did their newest single release, "Easter Song."

The group has appeared as solo and background singers on numerous albums, including the Jimmy Owens musical "Come Together." They traveled with the original road company and were featured soloists in the T.V. presentation of the same musical. The group also sings with Barry McGuire on his latest album "Seeds," which was produced for Myrrh Records by Buck Herring. Their own album "With Footnotes" was released in April

Dr. Lenox is widely known as ecumenical executive, radio commentator and speaker at church and community events. He conducts a weekly news commentary and interview program over Station KKAR in Pomona.

Chino church plans events

A New Testament reading program for youth continues at Christ Lutheran Church, 5500 Francis Ave., Chino. Those involved meet on selected Wednesday evenings at 7 p.m. with popcorn and coke provided, usually. After prayer time, the pastor gives introductory remarks before the reading period. Questions are welcomed at the close. All young people are invited. Recreation is taken at mid-point.

West End blood supply adequate

Despite a normal summer reduction in the number of blood donations, there is no shortage of blood in the West End or in San Bernardino County, it was learned today.

The Red Cross in Massachusetts and Utah ran out of blood last week, and although weekend appeals eased the problem, United Press International reported that a shortage still exists in those two states and other areas of the nation.

But the situation is much better locally.

Dr. J. S. Hayhurst, director of the Blood Bank of San Bernardino and Riverside Counties, acknowledged that during the summer season "it is more difficult" to obtain blood but "we have no shortage. We have redoubled our efforts to obtain blood by calling in regular donors."

Dr. Hayhurst said the blood bank hasn't had a critical shortage since it instituted its present donor program in 1967. The blood bank supplies 33 hospitals with blood, he noted.

But Dr. Hayhurst acknowledged that "there is always a blood supply shortage" to a certain extent because blood "lasts only 21 days and you can't build up a big inventory."

"We have to replenish the supply every day," he said. Dr. Harold Yanamura, director of laboratories at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland, said "we are very fortunate" not to be in the "terrible situation they have in Utah and Massachusetts."

"Our blood bank director (Dr. Hayhurst) has developed a roster, and as the supply runs low, donors are called in," Dr. Yanamura said.

"We have a record of our donors' history, and we know that our donors are healthy and that their blood is good blood," he said.

The blood supply was also reported to be adequate in Los Angeles County.

Craft works on display

Montclair Recreation Department students will exhibit their work in the Montclair Library Exhibit Room from Aug. 3 to 8.

There will be paintings, woodworking, collages, prints, knitting, macrame, ceramics and sculpture to represent a cross-section of work being done in the various classes this summer.

The library is in the Civic Center, 5111 Benito Avenue. Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday thru Thursday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

County buys additional land at refuse site

SAN BERNARDINO — The purchase of one acre of land next to the Milliken Avenue refuse disposal site was approved Monday by the county board of supervisors.

The county will pay Isaac J. Gabriel $5,250 for the parcel of land.

Supervisor Robert O. Townsend said the land is needed to square off the refuse site property. He said the one acre is at the corner of the property.

Child care center seeking trainees

The call has gone out from Cal Poly, Pomona for 15 men and women interested in working at the university's new Child Care center as a part of their training to earn a state-issued child care certificate.

Beginning this fall a course will be offered which will require participation in the on-going program of the Child Care Center on campus — Mondays through Fridays from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Six units of extension credit will be given toward a child care certificate, which requires a total of 18 units for the first phase of the training. Fees are $6 per unit. The course runs for ten weeks, from Sept. 19 through Dec. 6. Trainees will work directly with the three-to-five-year-olds — largely children of students — who are enrolled. No more than 20 children are at any one session.

The Cal Poly Child Care

Center opened April 15, the result of a cooperative planning and operation effort by the University and the Baldy View Regional Occupation Program (ROP), a federally funded organization which also uses the facilities as a training center for high school and adult students of child care practices. For information call 714/598-4235 or 714/598-4391.

Police salary boosted

The Montclair City Council voted unanimously Monday night to set new salaries for certain police department employees and to establish a program providing yearly physical examinations for fire department personnel over 45 years of age.

The police salaries increased were for the positions of police officer, senior police officer, sergeant and clerk dispatchers. The increases were approved at an impasse meeting, last week.

Salary increases for the positions of police officer, senior police officer and sergeant are by 10 per cent, while clerk dispatchers' salaries were increased by 12 per cent.

The newly approved annual physical examination program for fire department personnel over 45 years of age will apply to nine fire department members.

The proposal was originally turned over to the staff by the council a year ago. During the year a doctor was located to carry out examinations and items and tests to be included in the program were established.

The staff submitted a program to the council, which was approved unanimously, providing for the physicals at a cost of $80 per man. It was stated that money for the program is already at hand.

The yearly physicals will include blood counts, x-rays and electrocardiograms.

The council also voted unanimous approval of a rate increase request from Paul's Yellow Cab Company, Inc.

Gene Stallins, spokesman for the company, said their costs have increased about 34.9 per cent since the previous rate increase last year.

The current rate, 65 cents for the first one-sixth of a mile was increased to 80 cents for the first one-eighth of a mile. The rate of 20 cents for each additional one-third of a mile was increased to 20 cents for each additional one-fourth of a mile. Standby waiting rates went from $6 per hour to $7.20 per hour.

A fuel surcharge of 5 cents for each 8 cent increase of the company's fuel cost, in excess of a 30 cents per gallon base price, was also approved. The surcharge is to be added to meter fares.

The increase is contingent upon the approval of the other West End cities. Stallins said Upland and Ontario have already approved it, along with Pomona and San Dimas.

He said the increase was necessary to compensate for the effects of inflation on gasoline, parts, supplies, wages and fringe benefits. Gasoline costs alone, he said, have risen 70 per cent since last year.

Based on an average trip of three miles, said Stallins, the rate increases would amount to a total increase of about 25.9 per cent over last year's rates.

The city council unanimously approved a joint powers agreement establishing the West Valley Transit Service Authority. The council had previously granted tentative approval to the proposed agreement.

The joint powers agreement provides for membership consisting of the two county supervisors representing districts two and four, along with representatives of Chuno, Montclair, Ontario and Upland. Los Angeles County cities, Claremont and Pomona are also provided membership since it is felt comprehensive transportation plans should include the east end of L. A. County.

The agreement next goes to the San Bernardino Association of Governments (SANBAG) for its approval, according to Lauren Wasserman, city administrator.

S.B. Juvenile Hall expansion planned

San Bernardino County's Juvenile Hall will be expanded — after an ultimatum was handed down last week by the California Youth Authority to expand or close down.

Actually, the expansion had already been planned. The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors have merely confirmed expansion plans by hiring an architect.

Leon Hines Armantrout has been hired to provide design and engineering services for a 29,600 square foot addition to the hall located at 900 E. Gilbert St., San Bernardino.

The $2,269,000 expansion includes the $50,400 architectural fee. The expansion will be funded by Federal Revenue Sharing Funds.

Summer tips for the garden

There's something special about vacationing in your garden. Have you ever thought of dressing up an area, immediately adjacent to the house, as an outdoor living room?

Redwood planters filled with colorful geraniums will add spots of color. A grape stake fence can be draped with fragrant star jasmine. Patio borders can be outlined with marigolds, or a multitude of other colorful plants that will add brightness to the area.

Then to highlight your patio for evening, place outdoor lighting in strategic spots. Also, plants with white blossoms make a beautiful show at night. You'll be surprised what a garden paradise you have. The California Association of Nurserymen recommends you take a snapshot of your patio area and show it to your nearby CAN nurseryman. He'll have suggestions that will assist you in constructing an oasis at home.

Your patio can be a delightful sitting and relaxing area. Try hanging planters, colorful pottery that accent flowers and lush foliage.

With proper planning, you can have a year around display of blooms with the annuals and perennials available at your local nursery.

Night garden flowers

When you're planning your outdoor room, remember it has a night life, too. Fragrant flowers, dramatic plants, light-colored blooms that show up in the dark, will add enchantment to summer evenings spent outdoors.

If you have a jasmine vine twining a pillar, softening a corner, or cascading over a grape-stake fence, you're on the road to both fragrance and starchy night bloom. Ask a member of the California Association of Nurserymen which of the many different varieties would fit your garden, and plant it for enchanted summer evenings.

Some examples: Hydrangeas are magnificent in large tubs on any shady terrace or patio, and at night white ones such as "Hills of Snow" show up to dramatic advantage. The viburnum species is another family of shrubs that's effective at night as at daytime.

Tubbed meyer lemons are very pretty and at night their flowers pay big dividends in fragrance.

BOLD and bright blooms of hydrangeas will give unending pleasure in large tubs on a shady terrace or patio, under high-branching trees or on the shady side of the house in your garden. Check with your local nurseryman about what varieties and color choices he has available this time of year for planting. They have dramatic night effect.

Indoor plants cascade

Plants that trail downward refresh the indoors, adding dimension and grace to your decor. There are dozens of plants that suit this purpose very well, and the following are some recommended by the California Association of Nurserymen.

The piggyback plant has long-stemmed hairy leaves. It has a soft, lush green appearance that adds a welcome touch to every household. Piggyback plants do best in diffused light. Be sure to keep the soil evenly moist.

The variegated wandering jew is an excellent plant for hanging baskets with stems that cascade gracefully. It has 1-inch long green leaves with cream or white stripes of varying widths. Wandering Jew does best in bright, indirect sunlight. A damp plant mix is best for this household favorite.

An extremely popular house plant, grape ivy, usually is grown in hanging containers so its stems will cascade over the edges. The grape ivy has shiny deep green, three-lobed leaves, 4 inches long to 3 to 4 inches wide. The undersides of mature leaves are covered with soft brown fuzz. The grape ivy prefers diffused light and it is advisable to keep the plant mix evenly moist.

What was once old fashioned now is the 'in' thing today. We speak of the Boston fern. It has arching fronds up to 3 feet long and flat closely set leaflets. Fronds will cascade on all sides of a pedestal. Keep the soil evenly moist and place this fern in a spot where it receives bright diffused sunlight.

Your choice of cascading plant materials is not limited to the above. Visit your local CAN nursery and you'll find beautiful spider plants, kangaroo vines, English ivy, to name a few. And as you shop around for new additions to your indoor garden, be sure to check out the macramé holders, new hanging basket attachments and wall brackets.
